Just days before this week's Emmy awards show, this week's Wednesday's Child Julissa (1998) got a chance to shine as she walked the red carpet at the Doris Bergman Pre-Emmy Gifting Event. And while Julissa already has a natural glow and bright smile, she thoroughly enjoyed visiting the gifting vendors such as MD Sun Cosmetics and Gerard Cosmetics as she strolled through the event's thoroughfare at Fig and Olive in West Hollywood.

Julissa also fancied browsing and being bestowed with jewelry from vendors including Twisted Silver Jewelry and others. Julissa particularly noticed jewelry that was displayed in creative ways as she has a bit of an artistic eye. Julissa shared that she enjoys taking pictures, whether they are "selfies" or of things that intentionally or unintentionally have a unique design to them. Along these same lines, Julissa also likes the "art of the dance" and is taking dance lessons.

As for future career aspirations, Julissa has an interest in the Criminal Justice field – perhaps even applying her "photographer's eye" as a forensic investigator. For now, though, what Julissa has her eye on is finding a family to call her own ... and we are helping with the search.

Julissa arrived at the pre-Emmy gifting party ready to walk the red-carpet, but it takes consistent support and guidance from family to prepare one to journey along life's path. To learn more about Julissa and about adoption, tune in to Wednesday's Child and then call 866-921-ADOPT (2367).
